“Secrets of Construction Contract Drafting: Four Provisions that Deserve Special Attention”

Wednesday, July 23, 2014 at 6:00 - 8:00 pm

750 Ninth Street, NW, Suite 550, Washington, DC 20001

Whether you draft and execute contracts as a principal in your firm or are tasked with enforcing the terms on a daily basis to ensure a successful project, there are several key provisions that must be understood. The discussion will be framed from the standpoint of standard AIA forms and then focus on four areas that either create the most friction or require some very serious consideration: 1) ownership of plans and specifications; 2) limits on liability and indemnity; 3) insurance; and 4) arbitration clauses.

As a partner with Schnader Harrison Segal and Lewis, LLP, Mr. Gordon Woodward's practice concentrates on litigation matters including construction, real estate, product liability, and general commercial disputes. He is experienced in all stages of litigation, including motions, discovery, and trial. In addition, Mr. Woodward has significant experience in several nonlitigation areas including the preparation of complex insurance coverage opinions as well as counseling nonprofit entities on a number of issues including governance and contractual matters. Mr. Woodward is also a member of the Firm's Pro Bono Committee and has a very active pro bono practice focusing on civil rights and access to justice.

Appetizers and refreshments will be served.
