Erik Kallhovd is an associate in the firm's Litigation Services Department. He focuses his practice on insurance coverage law. His experience includes litigating first-party and third-party fraudulent insurance claims, defending commercial lines insurers in breach of contract actions and bad faith claims, counseling insurers on coverage issues and representing insurers in affirmative litigation. He has litigated insurance coverage issues involving a variety of policy forms, including all-risk, builder's risk, commercial general liability, energy, inland marine, and homeowners. Additionally, he has broad experience litigating a variety of commercial and general litigation matters. Erik also has experience working in-house for a large, publicly traded insurance company, where he managed complex coverage litigation arising from casualty and first-party property claims.
