Ms. Yeung is the co-chair of the Privacy and Data Security Practice Group, leading the Firm's work in counseling clients on issues of data privacy, including preparing privacy policies and procedures, and cross-border data transfers.

Ms. Yeung is also a member of the Intellectual Property Practice Group. Her practice ranges from protecting clients' intellectual property through securing trademark and copyright registrations from the United States Patent and Trademark Office and Copyright Office, monetizing and licensing those assets, to enforcing those rights through administrative proceedings, arbitration, and litigation in federal courts. These clients operate in a range of industries, including technology, health care, sports, and higher education.

She also is a member of the Litigation Services Department and the e-Discovery Practice Group. In that role, she regularly counsels clients on e-discovery issues and manages e-discovery projects to ensure efficiency and cost-effectiveness. Ms. Yeung serves as the Director of Litigation Support of the Firm.
